

Strainer fine mesh, conical

Description

Every cook experienced it at least once: The strainer slips from the edge of the sink and a good part of the food ends up in the drain. In order to prevent this, the new series of strainers has a simple but brilliant extra. Non-slip feet make sure they will not slip when placed on a sink or bowl. The conically shaped, fine-meshed strainer is ideal for straining stocks and broths. The strainer series with its reinforced frame and high material quality is designed to meet professional requirements and is very durable. All strainers are made of 18/8 stainless steel and are dishwasher-safe.
